

UNIVERSITÀ DI PISA DIPARTIMENTO DI GIURISPRUDENZA

CORSO DI DOTTORATO IN SCIENZE GIURIDICHE

Curriculum di Diritto privato, Lavoro e Tradizione giuridica europea

A Contract Law for the Age of Digital Platforms? Digital PhD Workshop

18 September 2020, 14,00-18,00, on Teams

Digital platforms reshape transactional environments, taking a position at once commanding and fluid in their relation with counterparts. Sectoral legislation and horizontal regulatory regimes somehow assume that platform mediated transactions should be regarded as asymmetric contracts. However, in consideration of the power of the platform to shape both the terms of the transaction and the infrastructure in which it takes place, it is open to discussion whether the asymmetry between the parties can be adequately tackled by contract law. Testing the potential and limits of a contract law of digital platforms is a major challenge for young scholars.

Scientific Committee

Valentina Calderai

Giulia Cappello

Andrea Cioni

Elisa Stracqualursi

(septemberworkshop@unipi.it)

Viola Cappelli, SSSA Pisa

The emerging collaborative economy in the energy sector

Discussant: Fabrizio Esposito, NOVA School of Law, Lisbon

Vincenzo Iaia, LUISS Rome

Reshaping editors' bargaining power under the Directive on copyright

Discussant: Przemyslaw Palka, Yale Law School

Enzo Maria Incutti, Sapienza University of Rome

A new slippery financial operation. Concerns and considerations on "ICO"

Discussant: Przemyslaw Palka, Yale Law School

Maria Elena Lippi, University of Pisa

Enclosing data. Rights and control over personal data on digital platforms

Discussant: Alessandra Quarta, University of Turin

Silvia Martinelli, University of Turin

The nature of the platform

Discussant: Francesca Episcopo, SSSA Pisa

Filippo Morello, University of Pisa

Contract and network in platform consumer credit

Discussant: Fabrizio Esposito, NOVA School of Law, Lisbon

Federico Ruggeri, Sapienza University of Rome

Not always so peer. The new P2B Regulation and the sharing economy

Discussant: Alessandra Quarta, University of Turin

Chiara Sartoris, University of Florence

Business users of digital platforms and contractual remedies

Discussant: Francesca Episcopo, SSSA Pisa